NEW LETTER IN THE CASE

Publisher Said to Have Wanted to Divide Patronage With

Mr. Stone.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 .- President Wilson sent to the Senate to-day the nomination of Henry M. Pindell of Illinois as Ambassador to Russia.

Mr. Pindell is the publisher of the Peoria Journal and has gained consider-LIFE SAVINGS, STOLEN able notoriety on account of an alleger able notoriety on account of an alleged sian Ambassadorship for a year, to enjoy a brief social regime, and then surrender

> It was to Mr. Pindell that Senator J Ham Lewis of Illinois was alleged to have written, reciting with some details the circumstances under which Mr. Pindell was to have the Russian appointment. While this letter has been denounced as practically a forgery the facts and letters involved in Mr. Pindell's case probably will prevent his confirmation.

Senator Burton of Ohio, member of the Foreign Relations Com-mittee, has asked Chairman Bacon not to allow the nomination of Pindell to be reported to the Senate until after Senator Rurton can investigate it thoroughly. When the nomination came to the Senate to-day it was referred to the Foreign Relations Committee, and it is certain to lead to a long fight.

The Latest Phase.

The latest phase of the Pindell matter is a letter said to have been written by the newspaper publisher to Representative Stone. Democrat, of the Peoria district. This letter is in possession of Mr. Stone and is likely to play a part in the con-sideration of Mr. Pindell's nomination by the committee. Senator Burton, who learned of the letter a week ago and had a conterence with Representative Stone, is probably familiar with its text. It is said that Mr. Stone was on the point of making it public recently be-

White House urging the President to nominate the Peoria editor to some im-portant effice.

The trouble is said to have originated in the letter that is now the subject of so much gossip. Persons who have read the letter say that Mr. Pindell proposed in the letter to the Peoria member of Congress a plan by which they should collaborate in the matter of making recommendations for postmasters in that Congressional district is said that Mr. Pindell propose that each postmaster recommended should that each postmaster recommended should be instructed to act as the agent practically of Mr. Pindell's newspaper in his particular locality, presumably to take subscriptions and forward them, to make collections, and generally become useful in promoting the interests of the news-

Mr. Stone Disapproved.

The plan did not appeal very strongly to Mr. Stone, who probably felt that the men he recommended should feel a sense of gratitude to him personally for their appointments, and not to Mr. Pindall.

There are other circumstances in the Pindell case that have caused Senators to look with suspleion on the nomination. It is reported, for example, that Representa-tive Stone, when he was working valiantly to get a job for the Peoria publisher, went o President Wilson and laid before proposal suggested by Pindell that the President should appoint the Peorla publisher Comptroller of the Currency and that Mr. Pindell would spend one week in Washington attending to the duties of that office and the next week in Peorial editing his newspaper.

The President is said to have been impressed unfavorably by this suggestion and to have intimated that it would require the entire time of any man to discharge the duties of the Comprehens
